I've tried the solutions listed in the other posts on the same topic, but they are having no effect. My PW is correct. How do I get that code to work? I have downloaded the game and extracted the ISO. This is the correct console I am using. Help, please! A: Having a pnach file does not really matter for hacking. To have a valid input on your ps2 you have to use one of the following input methods: directly into the game console in the HENM in the XBOX The input method works like this: first select the option on the side of the ps2. This is the TV-out second select the input method on the left-side of the ps2 screen. This is the pnach or cheat on your external device then put in your cheat and start your game! If you're using the second option, I don't think the cheat will work if you put it inside the game. I had a look at the pnach format, and the pnach file should contain a URL pointing to a web page. I don't know what's the difference between a direct input on your console and one that's coming from an external device. Q: mysql search multiple tables and pull data into separate columns i am trying to select all fields from one table and append them to separate fields in another table. here is the example:
